Re: United States v. Romana Leyva, S1 19 Cr. 667 (PAC)

Dear Judge Crotty:

At this afternoon's conference in the above-captioned case, the parties jointly requested two modifications to defendant Romana Leyva's bail conditions: (1) increasing the amount of her unsecured bond from $150,000 to $250,000, and (2) adding a condition of mental health evaluation/treatment, as directed by U.S. Pretrial Services.¹ Your Honor directed the Government to submit a letter reflecting these two modifications. Accordingly, the Government respectfully requests, with the consent of the defense, that Your Honor so-Order this letter, reflecting the two bail modifications enumerated above. The parties will work with the appropriate entities in the court system to effect these changes.

Respectfully submitted,

GEOFFREY S. BERMAN
United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York

¹ Following today's conference, a U.S. Pretrial Services Officer informed the Government that this wording—mental health evaluation/treatment, as directed by U.S. Pretrial Services—was preferable to the shorthand the Government used in court today, which referred to counseling.
